

Galp leads Dow Jones Sustainability index in Europe, sticks to Top 3 of world's most sustainable companies

- Europe's best and world's n°3 Oil & Gas Upstream & Integrated company
- World-leading score in the Environmental dimension
- Galp has been a staple of the DJSI for a consecutive eight years

Galp is Europe's most sustainable company in its industry, and n°3 worldwide, as measured by the Dow Jones Sustainability Indices (DJSI) 2019, achieving the best score in the eight consecutive years since joining the indices, and leading the way in the Environmental dimension.

The company ranked first in the DJSI Europe amongst its Oil & Gas Upstream & Integrated peers. In the DJSI World, the company ranked third out of the 52 companies reviewed by RobecoSAM, which helps put the indices together.

"This recognition reflects the Company's commitment to create shared value to all its stakeholders, putting in place best practices not only in the environmental dimension, but also regarding corporate governance and social dimension," said Galp's chief executive officer Carlos Gomes da Silva.

Galp achieved the highest score worldwide under the environmental dimension, leading the industry on Water-Related Risks and on Climate Strategy.

Galp also scored high on the Economic dimension, with a leading position on Risk and Crisis Management.

In the Social dimension, Galp led in Human Capital Development as well as in Corporate Citizenship and Philanthropy.

About Galp

Galp is a publicly held, Portuguese-based energy company, with an international presence. Our activities cover all stages of the energy sector's value chain, from prospection and extraction of oil and natural gas from reservoirs located kilometers under the sea surface, to the development of efficient and environmentally sustainable energy solutions for our customers – whether large industries that seek to increase their competitiveness, or individual consumers that seek the most flexible solutions for their home and mobility needs. We also contribute to the economic development of the 11 countries where we operate and to the social progress of the communities that welcome us. Galp employs 6,360 people.
